Lockheed Martin Sponsors National Rosie The Riveter Association Conference In Baltimore

What: The National Rosie the Riveter Association's annual conference will be held in Baltimore this weekend. Lockheed Martin is proud to sponsor the event in honor of the company's 75th anniversary in Baltimore.

When: June 11-12

Photo Opportunities:
-- A musical performance saluting the women of the 1940s (June 11 at 8 p.m.)
-- Middle school students from Baltimore County interviewing "Rosies" (June 12 at 11 a.m.)
-- 1940s Dinner Dance (June 12 at 7 p.m.)

Where: Conference Center at the Maritime Institute, 692 Maritime Boulevard, Linthicum Heights, MD

Background: "Rosie the Riveter" is the term used to describe the women of the 1940s who went to work when men were sent off to war. Hundreds of "Rosies" from around the country will be attending the conference in Baltimore. Lockheed Martin, the main sponsor of the conference, will celebrate its 75th anniversary in Baltimore on Oct. 7. Many of the women attending the conference worked at Lockheed Martin locations across the country.
