Lockheed Martin Opens New Honolulu Facility

High-tech Defense and Technology Contractor Growing in Hawaii

WHO: Congressman Neil Abercrombie, Honolulu Mayor Mufi Hannemann and Lockheed Martin Vice President Terry Magee are scheduled to attend and speak at the event.

WHAT: Lockheed Martin executives and employees will join with Hawaii's political, business, and military leaders in a traditional Hawaiian blessing ceremony to officially open a new 31,000 square foot campus adjacent Honolulu Airport. The new facility, atop Phase II of the Airport Industrial Park (AIPA), will provide a centralized location that will promote the execution and expansion of Lockheed Martin operations in Hawaii while bringing together various elements of the government contractor's business areas onto a single campus facility. Until now, Lockheed Martin maintained a large office in Kailua and operated smaller enterprises across Oahu, Kauai, and Maui, mostly providing on site program support to customers.

WHEN: Saturday, May 6, 2006. The event will start promptly at 2:00 p.m.

Those journalists and news media unable to attend the Saturday event are invited to a preview on Friday, May 5, 2006 between 10:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon. Please RSVP with Tracy Carter Dougherty.

WHERE:
3375 Koapaka Street
Suite I-500
Honolulu, HI 96819

Please join us in a celebration of growth and opportunity.

CONTACTS: Tracy Carter Dougherty of Lockheed Martin, cell: +1-610-316-1892, ortracy.l.carter@lmco.com.

PRNewswire -- May 4

SOURCE: Lockheed Martin
