Lockheed Martin Wins Role On New GSA Professional Services Contract

ROCKVILLE, Md., May 21, 2014 /PRNewswire/ -- The U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) selected Lockheed Martin (NYSE: LMT) as a contractor authorized to compete for future task orders on the One Acquisition Solution for Integrated Services (OASIS) contract.

The indefinite delivery, indefinite quantity (IDIQ) contract is the next generation vehicle for complex professional services that include engineering, logistics, finance, science, program management and consulting. The vehicle includes a five-year base year with one, five-year option.

Lockheed Martin was selected to compete for task orders in all pools, each focused on a specific service.

"Lockheed Martin has demonstrated past performance in professional services for a variety of civil and defense agencies," said Rick Hieb, vice president of Exploration and Mission Support for Lockheed Martin Information Systems & Global Solutions. "We have more than 15 years of experience managing multiple-award GSA IDIQ contracts for which we have been awarded more than $3 billion of work."

OASIS is open to all federal agencies and has an unlimited ceiling value.

Headquartered in Bethesda, Maryland, Lockheed Martin is a global security and aerospace company that employs approximately 113,000 people worldwide and is principally engaged in the research, design, development, manufacture, integration and sustainment of advanced technology systems, products and services. The Corporation's net sales for 2013 were $45.4 billion.
