Lockheed Martin Advances 25Forward Initiative Through New Partnerships

New and expanded partnerships support the company's $25 million commitment to honor, remember and serve.

BETHESDA, Md., Oct. 30, 2026 – Lockheed Martin (NYSE: LMT) today announced new and expanded partnerships with organizations across the country as part of 25Forward, the company's five-year, $25 million initiative commemorating the 25th anniversary of the Sept. 11 attacks.

Through partnerships with 11 organizations, 25Forward will safeguard stories and lessons of Sept. 11, as well as military service; serve survivors, first responders, veterans and military families; and sustain a spirit of service and preparedness by expanding opportunities for education, volunteerism and disaster readiness.

"These new partnerships mark an important next step for 25Forward and our commitment to those who serve and strengthen communities across the country," said Stuart Holliday, Lockheed Martin senior vice president and chief public affairs officer. "By investing in these organizations, we are extending their reach and lasting impact."

Through 25Forward, Lockheed Martin is partnering with the following organizations:

- 9/11 Day turns the anniversary of Sept. 11 into a nationwide day of service, honoring those lost by uniting people together to help others.
- Air Commando Heritage Foundation will preserve and share Air Force Special Operations history to educate visitors and honor those who served.
- Conservation Legacy creates conservation service and career opportunities, including pathways for veterans through its Veteran Fire Corps.
- FDNY Foundation supports New York City firefighters, EMS members and their families while advancing fire-safety education and programs that strengthen the FDNY.
- Friends of Flight 93 National Memorial supports preservation of the memorial and shares the stories of Flight 93's passengers and crew.
- Gary Sinise Foundation supports military service members, veterans, first responders and their families by building custom homes for our nation's most severely wounded heroes, providing first responder equipment, serving appreciation meals, supporting the families of our fallen and more.
- National Cold War Center will interpret and share the history and legacy of the Cold War through an immersive educational experience.
- Pentagon Memorial Fund preserves the memory of those lost at the Pentagon on Sept. 11 and will help educate future generations through the planned Visitor Education Center.
- Scholarship America provides postsecondary scholarships to eligible dependents of people killed or permanently disabled as a result of the Sept. 11 attacks through its Families of Freedom Scholarship Fund.
- Soldiers' Angels provides aid, comfort and resources to service members, veterans and military families.
- Team Rubicon brings veterans and volunteers together to help communities prepare for, respond to and recover from disasters.

Lockheed Martin launched 25Forward in September with a $10 million contribution to thePentagon Memorial Visitor Education Center. Over the next five years, the initiative will preserve history, support those impacted by Sept. 11 and advance a lasting legacy of service.
